The month of July was full of fest and zeal for the students of grade V, as they were able to enrich their creativity by participating in different competitions and a knowledgeable field trip.

Starting with competitions, they enjoyed decorating Aarti Thali and getting to share different creative ideas from their friends.

To make them more creative, they had a drawing competition wherein the theme was rainy season and they were supposed to draw objects placed on the table. It was a type of still object drawing.

Further, moving towards academics, they were indulged into many activities based on their syllabus in different subjects.

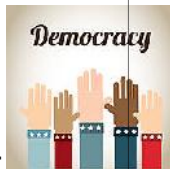

In Hindi, they acted on a skit on the theme: 'The places visited with their families'.

In maths they gained knowledge of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of fractions.

Science gave them the knowledge of human brain and different parts of the brain. They performed a beautiful activity making a model of human brain using clay.

India being a democratic, they enjoyed democracy week, choosing their own candidate and then voting for them.

A beautiful piggy bank was made by them in art and craft class, which gave them the idea of using waste material to make the best.

Music helped them to learn a new prayer 'Whisper a prayer' and they learned steps on the song 'Tare Zameen Par'.

The most exciting thing for them was the field trip to 'Water Filter Plant' located at Katargam. They understood the importance of pure water and the steps involved in the water filtration.

To sum up, overall the month of July was an exciting month.
